Weather in Mataró: what to expect?

In Mataró during November you can find a very variable weather: it's usually dry, but it can also rain. Statistically, for this month the temperature could be expected to oscillate between the following values: Day: 16°C, Night: 11°C, but it can vary greatly from year to year.

So, the recommended thing to do is consult before coming, to these links:

<https://www.meteo.cat/>

<https://www.eltiempo.es/mataro.html>

UPON ARRIVAL

Mataró is located 32km from Barcelona city center and 46km away from Airport de Barcelona-El Prat (Josep Tarradellas).

From the airport to Mataró:

[criteria: convenience/price]

A) Train + Train:

Take the R2 line in the airport to Barcelona-Sants Station. The train station in the airport is next to Terminal 2, so if your plane lands in T1 (most likely) you may have to take an internal shuttle bus that takes you there. Usually there is a train departing every 30 minutes, and takes 20 minutes to get there.

Once in Barcelona-Sants, take the R1 or the RG1 line that reaches Mataró. Usually there is a train departing every 15 minutes. Train station in Mataró is in the seafront.

R1 train timetable.

Ticket Price: You can take a ticket train to do both trips (will be valid within the next two hours after its purchase). You have to select a simple ticket for 4 zones. It will cost 4,60€.

You can check all train timetables in this link (in English): <https://rodalies.gencat.cat/en/horaris/>

B) Bus + Train:

Take the Aerobus (Official Shuttle Bus from Airport to city center) it will leave you in Plaça Catalunya. The service operates 24 hours a day, during the day it departs every 5 to 10 minutes. The journey takes approximately 30 to 35 minutes.

Company link: <https://aerobusbarcelona.es/?lang=en>

The price of the Aerobus ticket is 5,90€ one way, and 10,20€ return trip (you can make you return trip until 90 days after).

It may be the most comfortable transport if your destination for that day (Sunday) is Barcelona city center).

To go to Mataró, once in Barcelona Plaça Catalunya, you can take the train (station is underground). Line R1 or the RG1 line that reaches Mataró. Usually there is a train departing every 15 minutes. Train station in Mataró is in the seafront.

Ticket Price for the train: Simple ticket for 4 zones. It will cost 4,60€.

C) Metro + train

There is a Metro line (L9 Sud) that connects the airport terminals to the city of Barcelona, departs every 7 minutes, but it requires to transfer to other metro lines to reach the city center (from last station of this line, Zona Universitària you can take Line 3 -green- that takes you to Barcelona-Sants).

The cost of a single metro journey is 5,15€.

Once in Barcelona-Sants, take the R1 or the RG1 line that reaches Mataró. Usually there is a train departing every 15 minutes. Train station in Mataró is in the seafront.

Ticket Price: You can take a ticket train to do both trips (will be valid within the next two hours after its purchase). You have to select a simple ticket for 4 zones. It will cost 4,60€.

D) Other:

In the airport there is taxi service that of course could lead you directly to Mataró, but at a very costly option, 75€ or more, expense that cannot be allocated to the project, so is not the most recommended option.

Bus (low frequency):

-There is a bus that takes directly from Barcelona airport to Mataró, but only twice a day (departing airport at 8h15 or 13h15). Not the handiest option, but if by chance your plane leaves near the departing hour, then it may be convenient.

-The return bus from Mataró direct to the airport is only once a day, at around 15h30.

Payments:

After covid, credit cards are accepted in Catalonia almost everywhere and for all kinds of expenses: it will be possible to pay tickets to public transport of any amount, but also in most places will agree to credit card payment even to pay a single coffee.

It is also easy that a restaurant accepts to pay separately for each person within a table, and receive receipts individually (either is by cash or credit card), but is always recommendable to announce it upon entrance, to make sure it is possible.

TRANSPORT AROUND MATARÓ

The recommended hotel (New Hotel Colón) is within a walking distance to all the venues of the Workshop, so no need for transport to move around the city.

To go to/and from Barcelona to Mataró (if needed) you can either take:

- A) the train (R1). R1 train timetable.
- B) The direct bus. Departs every 15 minutes (every 30 on weekends). The bus stop in Barcelona is in the city center (Ronda de la Universitat 25, metro station Universitat, 5 minutes walking from Plaça Catalunya) and also in the center of Mataró (Plaça de les Tereses).

Price ticket: 5,25€

ACCOMODATION

WHERE TO STAY FIRST AND LAST NIGHT

Arriving day (November the 20th)

If you want to visit Barcelona or go to see a show during your visit in Catalonia, it should be done on Sunday the 20th, since in Mataró there is nothing programmed for that day.

If you attend a show on Sunday (in BCN), you can still spend your night in Mataró (last trains from Barcelona to Mataró on Sunday depart until 22:55 or 23:40 so plenty of time to since the shows on Sundays start at 6PM).

If you want, you can of course spend the night in Barcelona. Monday's sessions start at 10h30: we have scheduled a late start in case some of you spend the night in the capital. But bear in mind that going from Barcelona to Mataró will take you some time (the train journey is a little over 45 minutes, then walking from the station to the venue there are 15 minutes walking).

If you prefer a quiet evening, upon arrival you can go directly to Mataró, settle in the hotel for your entire stay and rest and walk around the city.

(Later on this welcome kit you can find shows programmed in Barcelona, Girona and other nearby cities for that day)

Departing day (23-24 November)

The session on the 23rd is scheduled to end at 6 p.m., so it is most likely that the return flights home will be on the 24th.

-If your flight is from mid-morning, you can stay this last night in Mataró and commute to the airport the 24th morning.

-However, if your flight is scheduled for early in the morning, maybe the better option is to book a hotel in Barcelona for that night.

Mataró and El Prat Airport are at opposite ends of Barcelona, and crossing the whole the city at rush hour cannot be the most comfortable (public transport is very crowded in the morning)

If you have to spend one of these two nights in Barcelona, we recommend booking a hotel either:

- in the Barcelona-Sants area (where a direct train to the airport can be taken)

-in the Plaça Catalunya area (where a direct bus to the airport can be taken).

IN MATARÓ

WHERE TO STAY DURING THE WORKSHOP - OUR SUGGESTION

Mataró is not a very touristic city, and therefore, its hotel offer is limited. The most convenient hotel to stay in to reach both of the Workshop venues (and better value for money in town) is:

New Hotel Colom

Carrer de Colón, 6-8

08301 Mataró

Tel. 931 785 839

Mail. info@newhotelcolon.com

www.newhotelcolon.com

The hotel offered us this prices:

57,50€ single room

66,50€ double room for individual use

78,50€ doble room

*All this prices include breakfast. A € 0.50 of tourist tax per day/person must be add.

This prices were blocked for some rooms for us until October the 20th. After that date they will make the rooms available to the general public, but chances may be that they will still have those prices available.

You can contact the hotel and check.

For another conditions (more flexibility in cancellation polices), the hotel can also be booked through Booking.com, but then the prices offered are higher.

BEFORE RETURN TRAVEL

If you need Covid testing before your departure let us know, and we can advise on where to take it or schedule an appointment for you.

We are a small team of only two people and may have a lot to deal with during the workshop, so it will be very well appreciated if you can let us know in advance, so we can look for the place and arrange it beforehand.

If you tell us once in the workshop, we may not be able to book it.
